Is dealing with conflict taking up all your time and energy? Does it sometimes feel like conflict manages you more than you manage it? Whether at work or at home, differences and disagreement are an unavoidable part of our daily life. Join us in this session to develop more effective responses for conflict at work . . . or anywhere.

This workshop will help you:

- Gain insight into your experience with conflict.
- Acquire and improve cooperation skills for more effective de-escalation and problem-solving.
- Improve your understanding of the role that culture plays in communication and conflict resolution.
